1. Why These Hashtags Were Selected

Each hashtag was chosen to directly reflect Sanyukt Organisation's actual work areas — NGO impact, fundraising, volunteering, women and youth empowerment, community welfare, awareness, and cleanliness/environment initiatives. Generic, overly broad, or unrelated trending tags were avoided, as they attract audiences with no real interest in social-impact content and dilute engagement with the wrong followers.

2. Mixing Broad, Niche and Local Hashtags

A healthy hashtag mix has three layers: broad tags (e.g., #NGOIndia, #SocialImpactIndia) for wider reach and discoverability; niche tags (e.g., #WomenEmpowerment, #SkillIndia, #SwachhBharat) that target audiences already interested in specific cause areas; and local tags (e.g., #OdishaNGO, #BhubaneswarCommunity) that build recognition within the immediate community Sanyukt directly serves. Using all three layers together in one post balances visibility with relevance.

3. Matching Hashtags to the Specific Post

Not all 30 hashtags should be used on every post. Instead, 8–12 hashtags should be selected per post based on its actual content — for example, a fundraising post should prioritise charity/fundraising and India-wide tags, while a cleanliness-drive post should lead with environment and local Odisha/Bhubaneswar tags. Matching hashtags to the post's real theme keeps captions clean, improves relevance to the right audience, and avoids appearing spammy.
